A Message to Seniors from Juniors

We, the Junior Class of Kenmore High School, wish to express our heartiest congratulations to you Seniors who are about to assume a far greater responsibility than you have ever experienced before.

Although we realize that you will soon form new friendships and begin a chapter of your life entirely different from that of the past four years, we hope that you will continue to hold dear the memorable hours we have spent together as students of Kenmore High.

May God speed you on your way to success, fame, and fortune.

GORDON E. WHITEMAN, Junior Class President

To the Juniors and Sophomores Our Last Will and Testament

PRINCIPAL FREEMAN, Faculty, Fellow Students, Friends and Relatives, or anyone who may by chance encounter the startling lines of this extraordinary yearbook:

On behalf of my esteemed and honorable client, the Senior class of June, 1935, of Kenmore High School, of the Village of Kenmore, State of New York, U. S. A., you are one and all about to be apprised of the contents of a document worthy of all the solemnity and staidness of mind that are due any noteworthy occasion; you are at this point about to witness the issuance of this, the last will and testament of the departing graduates, about to be informed into whose hands their virtuous gifts are to be consigned in these their last moments of life in Kenmore High School. After deliberate conference and scrupulous meditation, to eliminate any unnecessary contention or ill-feeling among their beloved successors, which would otherwise naturally emerge midst wild and frantic scrambling for these, my clients' possessions, it has been their just and impartial decision to bestow the bulk of their belongings upon the members of the Junior and Sophomore classes of 1936 and 1937 respectively, with but a few most vital, most necessary exceptions which will be duly designated in time.

Accordingly, we, the class of 1935, having duly formulated and sworn to the purport of this sacred document, in spite of our full possession of a somewhat distracted and crammed state of mind, do hereby dispose of the following to the aforementioned victims of circumstance:

1. We give and bequeath our fondly loved assembly seats to which are attached the endearing memories of so many assemblies, pep meetings, and especially Monday morning chapel exercises. May you fill them with the same element of appreciation and gratefulness that has been previously manifested by us.
2. Along with the above-mentioned items, do we grant all our promptness and faithfulness, orderliness, and especially attentiveness to all programs that it has been our pleasure to witness, from Mr. Braunton's discreet Monday morning messages to K. H. S.'s renowned amateur productions and entertaining local talent.
3. We regretfully, yet generously, confer upon you the twenty to forty minute detention periods which have so graciously and joyously been ours in years gone by.
4. We leave the school spirit which has so miraculously been ours to display during our frequent, zealous pep assemblies when we have so many times caused the roof to be raised as a result of our youthful, abounding enthusiasm.
5. We bestow upon you any new slides added through our own efforts to the ever-up-to-date collection of popular melodies sung so harmoniously in song assemblies. Closely with them will follow the soaring voices, sometimes sweet, more frequently sour, of us musically inclined Seniors.
6. Likewise, do we relinquish to you Juniors and Sophomores the extent of space in the boys' cafeteria, so selfishly captivated and glided upon during the social periods of student dancing when we shuffled along so rhythmically to the music of K. H. S.'s euphonious orchestras.
7. We freely donate to you the balance of our class treasury, what little there may be remaining, to be lavishly squandered upon a few soft pillows for the sole purpose of bringing about more comfortable, appeasing rest periods experienced daily in our classes and "sleeping sessions."

8. To you we benevolently allot the ever-faithful, guiding, and intimate presence of "Pop" Lung and "Grandfather" Williams, who have both so conscientiously dogged our footsteps at the close of every school day for the past four years.
9. Moreover, we graciously cede to the same all notes, scraps of paper, slingers, or any other analogous article bearing such enticing information as has been the custom of us Seniors to impart during the past months of our stay here.
10. Likewise, do we similarly grant any old stubs of pencils or worn-down erasers that may miraculously crop up in numerous strange places, and at the same time, the privilege of completely enjoying all marks, signs, phrases, symbols, and initials that have been so artistically engraved on desks, lockers, and in books by us to the ecstatic delight of the entire faculty, principal, and board of education (we are sure).
11. To any Junior or Sophomore who finds himself desperately and despondently struggling along, endeavoring to comprehend to some degree the fundamental facts of right triangles or square roots, we hereby bestow Rex Morgan's almost super-human mathematical ingenuity.
12. To any reticent Junior or Sophomore, either Jack Atkinson's or Robert Puckett's gift of gab and ability to bluff his way through any complex, embarrassing situation. (But please let there be no violent dissension over such prized possessions.)
13. To any one desiring it is granted Jack Payne's renowned sense of so-called sophistication.
14. To the highest bidder will be dispatched most carefully (probably wrapped in the best of cellophane) William Dusenbury's captivating and priceless grin.
15. To the Junior girls we award the power of their predecessors in skillfully and firmly steering and guiding the boys of their class through all the trials and complications that will of necessity be confronted during their Senior year in high school.
16. To Melvin Berg is presented all the scientific knowledge belonging to us that will be beneficial to him in adequately regulating and controlling adverse weather conditions here so that they will more favorably coordinate with the desires of the student body throughout the year to come.
17. To the members of the future Rostrum staff, especially to our talented editor, Boris Klosson, we assign all the hazardous, sensational incidents of our lives as they have been in the past, as they are now, or as they will be in the future, with all our amazing experiences and notorious achievements and any glamorous glory to be attained in years to come, confident that they will make a success of any publication, and at the same time, offer inspiration to any idol-worshipping younger student of our beloved Kenmore High School.

In drawing up this consecrated document, we cannot overlook our esteemed faculty or our respected principal, Mr. Freeman. Accordingly, to the former, we willingly transmit all alarming and absolutely unfamiliar bits of learning and wisdom procured from time to time in our sundry examination papers, and a series of peaceful, reposeful moments, void of all worry and nerve-racking strain, heretofore caused by us vain, misleading Seniors.

We do give and bequeath to our dearly beloved principal, Mr. Freeman, familiarly known as "Doc," our deepest reverence, our heartiest gratitude, and our sincerest penitence for all the tribulation and distress we may have occasioned him in the past, and also any remnant of our property, hitherto not specified, to dispose of as he so desires.

And we do hereby appoint and establish the said principal sole executor of this our last will and testament.

BETTY LOUISE MARSH

Thank God for the splendor of work."*

AMERICAN HIGH SCHOOL ANNIVERSARY

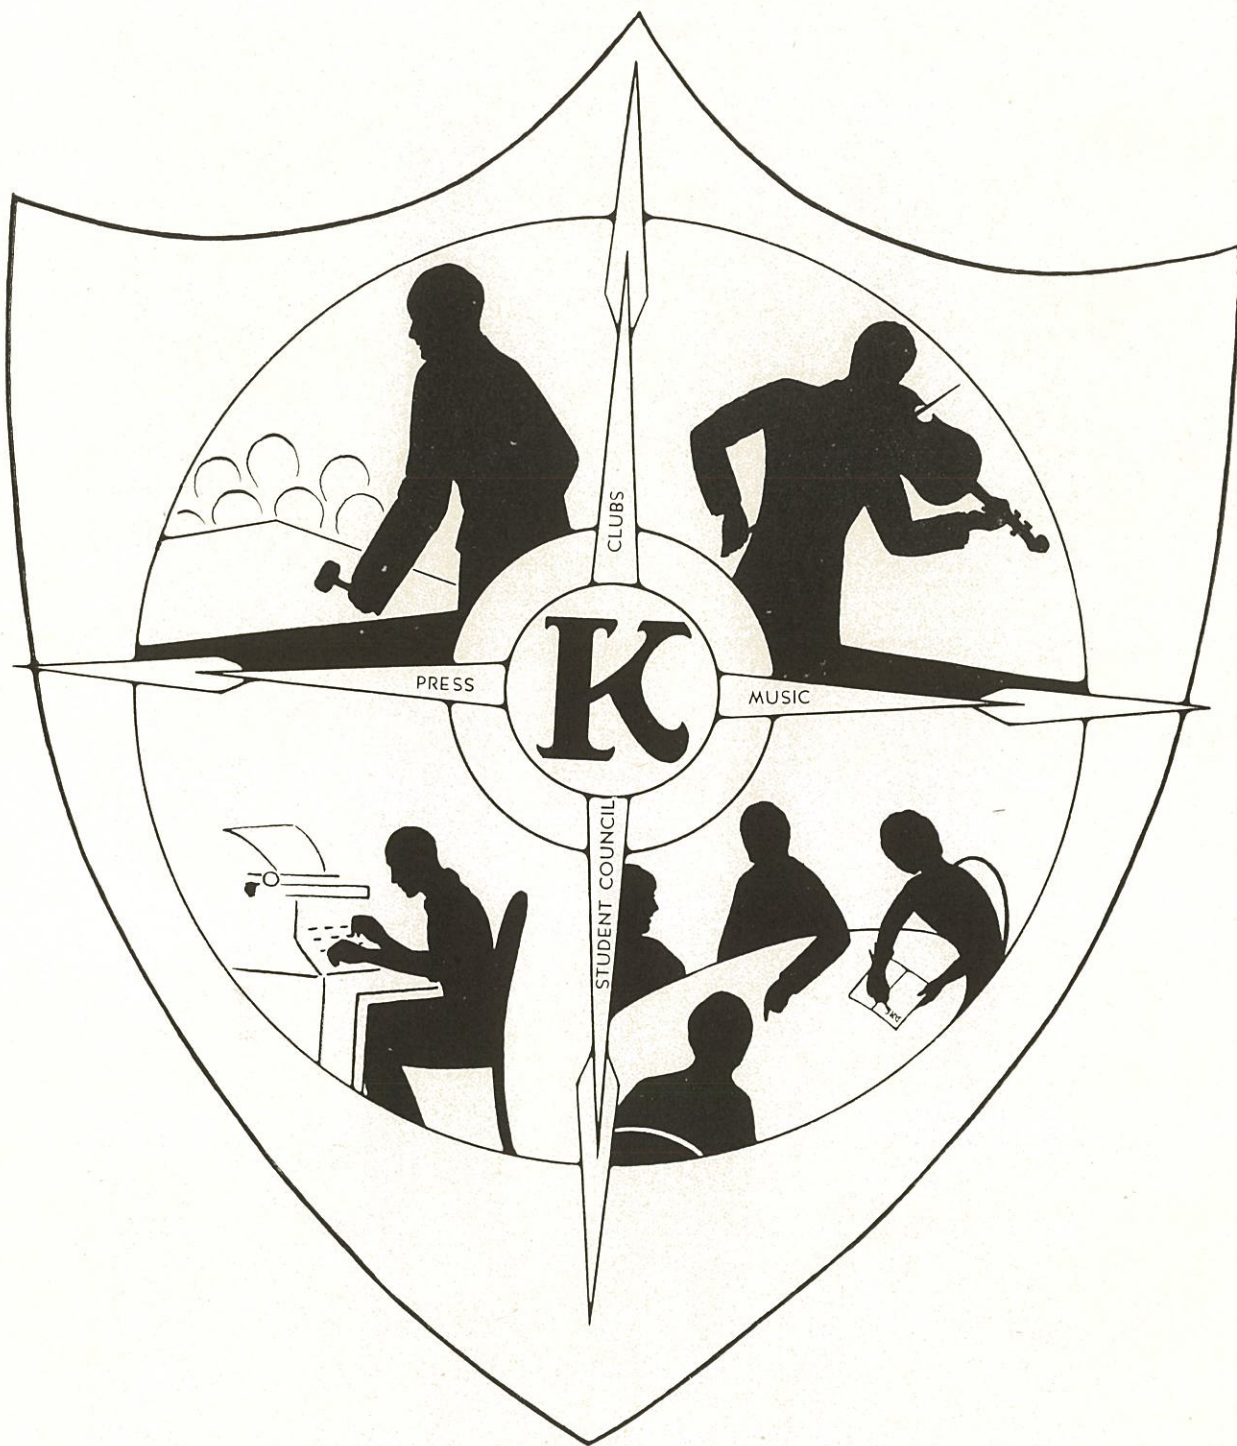

The year 1935 ushers in an important anniversary in the life of the American people. Three hundred years ago the first American high school — the Boston Latin School — was founded. It was established in 1635 only fifteen short years after the landing of the Pilgrims. From a small beginning with one instructor and a handful of students has grown the splendid service now provided for more than 6,000,000 young Americans by 26,000 public and private high schools. These schools are developing the most precious resource of our nation, the latent intelligence of our young people. It is worth noting that social progress in the United States is following swiftly on the heels of the remarkable expansion of educational opportunity at the high school level.

I hope that the young people of every high school in the United States will celebrate this three hundredth anniversary. I hope they will celebrate it in a manner which will bring vividly before parents and fellow townsmen the significance, the contribution and the goals of their schools.

Franklin D. Roosevelt

Student Council

Like many other high schools, Kenmore has student government. This council, composed of members of the various classes, acts as a general governing body in the school. Members are elected by each class. The Sophomore representative is Horace Curtis. Gordon Whiteman, president of the Junior Class, and Jane Goetz, Junior representative, act in behalf of their class. The Senior Class is represented by the class adviser, Miss Jones, class president, Rex Morgan, and class representative, Ruth Lindeman. Besides Principal Freeman, there is another member, the Student Council president, who is elected the preceding May by the student body to act in this capacity.

The Student Council has backed many school activities this year. Owing to seeming lack of interest, the "Rostrum", our school paper, has been in debt for each issue. The Council has met this deficit from the general student fund. A pep parade preceding the Tonawanda football game of October 20th was supported by the Council. This parade was suggested and managed by Boris Klosson, Rostrum editor.

Superintendent Densberger, through the Council, proposed an enlargement of this body to include nearly twenty members who should act as a judicial court and try minor offences. It was his idea that each recognized organization having an adviser and a membership of at least twenty, with a certain percentage of attendance at meetings, should be entitled to elect one representative. Each club would also draw up a budget. All the money it received would go into a general fund to be drawn upon when necessary, thus helping the weaker organizations. This plan has been slow in developing. However, the idea of a judicial court is rapidly evolving.

One of the outstanding achievements of the year has been the "Follies of 1935", backed by the council and produced by Boris Klosson, who also wrote the whole musical review. Presented as an example of what home talent can really do, the "Follies" was given as a matinee to help defray expenses of the Rostrum.

Honor Club

One of the unique features of this club is the fact that it has no officers; neither does it meet at any time during the year. Its members are those in the graduating class who have maintained a three-year scholastic average of 85 per cent or above. This year Rex Morgan held the highest average, and Betty Miller ran a close second. The other members are:

Debate Club

The 1934-1935 season of our Debate Teams opened with an assembly debate between Rex Morgan and Jack Atkinson on the merits of the Student Council. No decision was given in this case, the debate merely presenting the arguments of each side.

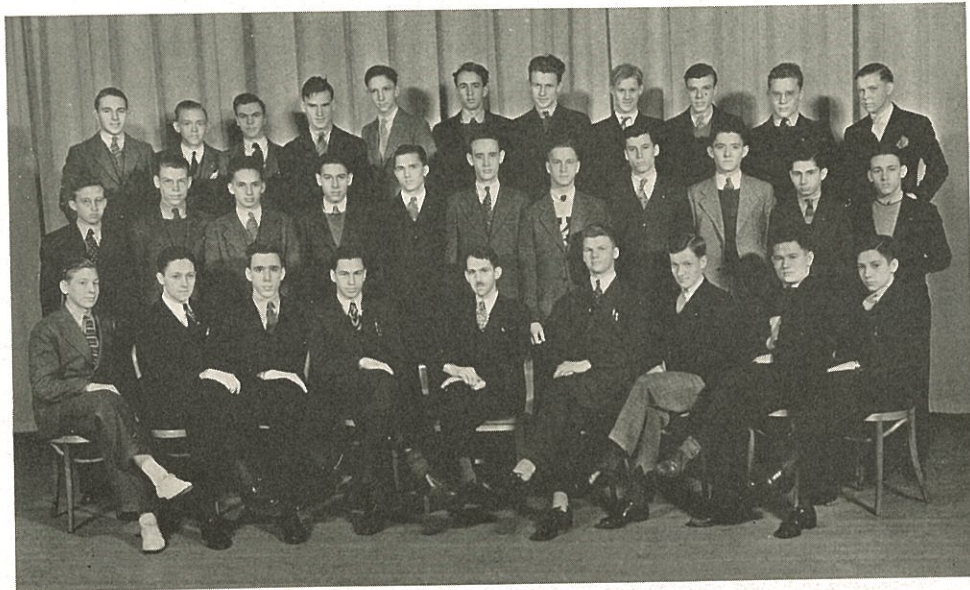

Following this came home and home debates with Amherst, Niagara Falls, Hornell, Jamestown, and Leroy. At this kind of debate, either our affirmative or negative team went to the various cities while their corresponding team came to Kenmore.

The question for this year was, "Resolved: That the federal government should adopt the policy of equalizing educational opportunities throughout the nation by means of annual grants to the several states for public, elementary, and secondary education."

Debating offers excellent opportunities to the student interested in law. It provides a means of learning the art of argumentation effectively and the technique of poise and self-confidence while speaking. Since there are no public-speaking classes in our school, the club furnishes any student the opportunity to speak efficiently both in prepared and in extemporaneous speeches.

Mr. Braunton, who has built up a fine reputation for our team, is the coach.

Hi-Y Club

Under the able leadership of "Bill" Braunton, the Hi-Y has just completed its most successful year. Sponsored by the Y. M. C. A., the organization has thirty-five Junior and Senior class boys who meet every Monday at the "Y" for supper to be followed by the weekly discussion. Professions, life at college, use of leisure time, and social life are a few of the beneficial topics considered.

During the past year, the activities have been somewhat varied, although many are traditionally the same. Early in October, the annual father and son banquet was held with Dr. Clements as guest speaker. Shortly afterwards, a representation from the club including all the officers was sent to the Older Boys' Conference at Niagara Falls. Nearly 500 boys from all parts of the state attended. On Monday, December 24th, the largest alumni banquet ever attempted was held with almost 100 alumni members, representing over twenty colleges, attending. As usual, the deputation services were presented in many churches in both Buffalo and Kenmore. Since the year 1935 marked the ninth anniversary of such services, the team spoke on the history of Christianity to the present day and also of its future. At the mother and son banquet on May 27th, at which time the gold pins were presented to the deserving members, the Hi-Y officially suspended its activities.

Throughout the year the organization was directed by a most efficient group of officers of which Jack Carter was president; Rex Morgan, vice-president; Howard Spendelow, corresponding secretary; Charles Rae, recording secretary; Joseph Clement, treasurer, and Jack Atkinson, president of the Hi-Y Council.

First Row: D. Dake, V. Acer, D. Stellar, B. Marsh, J. Woller, J. Scrimshaw, F. Watkins, M. Schwemle. Second Row: A. Schoenberger, N. Schuler, D. Kent, B. Brand, D. Brunton, E. Hemstreet, F. Knibloe. Third Row: D. Thompson, E. Rowland, F. Stevenson, J. Molloy, B. Rycroft, E. Carland.

Girl Reserves

Sponsored by the Y. W. C. A., this organization has met every week when the girls, for the most part, have worked on handicraft articles. Making yarn and leather purses and silver bracelets has proved very successful.

Because of the girls' lack of interest, the organization has had very few speakers. Mr. Bowers, an American engineer, however, spoke on modern Russia. Mrs. Wallace, a demonstrator from a downtown department store, showed the art of make-up that is best adapted to various types of girls. Mary Martin, Elizabeth Hemstreet, and Katherine Albrechtson she used as models. Following this, a supper was held in the library of the Y. W. C. A.

In February a drive was made to clear up membership lists. All who had missed more than three meetings were automatically dropped from the club.

Two delegates, Arlene Schoenberger and Doris Stellar, were recently sent to the mid-winter conference of the Girl Reserves, held at Tonawanda, from February 21st to February 23rd.

During the year the club has had several dances. The dance held in May was sponsored by all of the high school groups in Buffalo and Kenmore.

Jean Woller is president; Jean Scrimshaw, vice-president; Frances Watkins, secretary; Marguerite Schwemle, scribe, and Doris Stellar, treasurer; Miss Whitelock, and Mrs. Tucker are the advisers.

First Row: M. Hornung, J. Woller. Second Row: E. Rowland, Miss Kenyon, D. Carlson. Third Row: W. Carpenter, Edwin Kelly, B. Waite, L. Cashmore, H. Reid, M. Crowley, A. Schrader. Fourth Row: F. Smith, J. Scrimshaw, A. Worthington, P. Schloerb.

Thespians

The initiation of the new Thespians which took place Wednesday evening, April 3rd, swelled the ranks to seventeen members who have the common purpose of developing a spirit of active and intelligent interest in dramatics, of assisting directors and students in the selection and presentation of worthwhile high school plays, and of providing a suitable reward for excellence attained in high school dramatics. In addition, the organization attempts to acquaint directors and students with the general progress made in dramatics in other schools, and to secure royalty reductions on the best plays adaptable to high school presentation. Those who were accepted to membership were Walter Carpenter, Frank Smith, Mary Crowley, Henry Reid, Paul Schloerb, Ann Worthington, Edwin Kelley, Dorothy Carlson, Jean Woller, Betty Waite, Emily Rowland, and Jean Scrimshaw. Miss Kenyon, Loran Cashmore, Albert Schrader, and Arlene Schoenberner aided in the ceremony.

A meeting of the new members was held Thursday, April 4th, at which time officers were elected. Loran Cashmore was elected president, Walter Carpenter, vice-president, and Jean Scrimshaw, secretary-treasurer.

First Row: P. Schloerb, H. Hamilton, E. Huebschwerlen, Edwin Kelly. Second Row: V. Klees, A. Schoenberger, E. Rowland, A. Schrader, F. Smith, Miss Kenyon, W. Carpenter, W. Stevens, M. Crowley, D. Carlson, J. Woller. Third Row: N. Schuler, I. Brady, M. Hoffner, H. Morlock, N. Boston, J. Barney, F. Stevenson, A. Worthington, K. Albrechtson, B. White, M. Hornung. Fourth Row: H. Reid, F. Schrader, R. Puckett, W. Dusenbury, J. Payne, L. Cashmore, L. Faux, J. Scrimshaw, H. Hallenbeck, B. Waite.

The Dramatic Club

The Dramatic Club has much to show in the way of progress as its activities draw to a close for the year. Its aims, to improve each member's voice and acting ability, as well as to give knowledge of prominent people in the stage world, have been carried out, first under the leadership of Lois Armagost, and, later under that of Walter Carpenter. Frank Smith is vice-president, Albert Schrader, treasurer, and Walter Stevens, secretary. Miss Beatrice Kenyon is the capable and interested adviser, and also director of the plays and monologues given before the club.

"Dust of the Road", presented at the Christmas assembly, is the story of a man, who although strongly tempted to steal money belonging to another, finally decides on the straight and narrow way. Edwin Kelly portrayed the erring man, Lucille Foley, his wife, and Loran Cashmore, an unknown man of the road who knew of his inward struggle.

Some other plays given during the year were "A Christmas Chime" and "Big Hearted Herbert". In the latter, Walter Carpenter and Lois Armagost were starred.

In "About Candle Light Time", Nellie Custis, portrayed by Jean Scrimshaw, communes with George Washington, as played by Edwin Kelly, the night before her wedding to Lawrence Lewis, played by John O'Connor.

The Senior Play, "A Lucky Break", concerns John Bruce, a millionaire, impersonated by Jack Payne, who comes to Matasguam and falls in love with Nora Mullit, played by Jean Scrimshaw, the daughter of Mrs. Mullit, owner of Hotel Mullit. In this role appeared Dorothy Carlson. The plot becomes very involved when Claudia Barrett, Jean Woller, is instructed by her mother, Emily Rowland, to marry John Bruce when she is really in love with Tommy, Loran Cashmore. Comedy was provided by Elmine, Mary Crowley, and Benny Ketchum, Frank Smith.

The relation of the numerous and varied activities of the Dramatic Club gives proof of a truly successful year.

First Row: B. Rycroft, B. Marsh, W. Carpenter, J. McFarren, G. Salisbury, Mrs. Chittenden, B. Klosson, B. Miller, M. Haas, H. Hough, R. Lindeman, H. Curtis. Second Row: G. Elliot, E. Berner, Arthur Miller, E. O'Dea, J. Smith, R. Fox, M. Elve.

Rostrum

Under the guidance of Boris Klosson, the Rostrum has accomplished many things in the year 1934-1935. Many of the students' desires were gratified through its extensive editorial campaign, including the organization of the Letter Club and the securing of the privilege to dance after the basketball games. Perhaps the most spectacular evidence of its work was the production of a two-hour assembly entitled "Follies of 1935". This show, written by Boris Klosson, was produced entirely by students, from the direction of the acting to the management of the lighting.

The Rostrum celebrated its twentieth anniversary with a large gala issue in June. Comparisons were made between the first Rostrum and the present one.

During the year, it has featured up-to-the-minute coverage of sporting and other events. Since the Rostrum is a school paper, its staff is composed of any high school member who applies for a position.

First Row: G. Stickney, H. Hough, Miss Harms, F. Meier, J. Carter. Second Row: D. Carlson, F. Kendall, R. Anderson, L. Gottsch, J. Stone. Third Row: F. McClelland, R. Werner, W. Wall, S. Gill.

Der Kenmore Deutsche Verein

The German Club, which is the magnetic attraction of many German students, is open to anyone who desires to familiarize himself with Germany, its customs, and people. With Miss Harms, our new German teacher, as adviser, meetings have been held once a month, successfully accomplishing these ends.

The main purpose of the club is to promote fellowship among German students and to learn as much as possible about the culture and habits of the German people. Under the capable direction of Frances Kendall, the program chairman, many excellent meetings have been held.

In October, the club had the pleasure of hearing Mr. E. Schmidt from a German society in Buffalo. In addition to his talk, he showed movies of the Rhine country, of "Der Passionspiel", and German woodcarving. The November meeting was a scavenger party held at the home of Jack Carter. In December, a Christmas play was presented and Christmas songs caroled. This was followed by the January meeting at which characteristic German games were played and old folk songs sung. In February came the annual visit to the Little German Theater on the east side of Buffalo. Here was seen a German movie, spoken and acted by the film stars of that country.

The president, Jack Carter, resigned in February because of conflicting obligations although he continued to take part in the club activities. Robert McCarthy was elected to take his place. Harvey Hough is vice-president, Frances Meier, secretary, and Gordon Stickney, treasurer. With the new fervor that has been instilled within the organization through the advent of Miss Harms, we may hope for bigger and better activities next year.

Clinton, L. Devitt.

Le Cercle Francais

Our French-minded students belong to this group whose main purpose is to further the knowledge of the French language as well as of the country itself, of its inhabitants and customs. Social entertainment is also a dominant objective.

This was one of the most successful years of the club's existence. Under the able supervision of Mlle. Gendreau the membership has exceeded that of other times. Each meeting has its business session, a discussion of a subject relating to France, and its social hour.

At each meeting, French only is spoken in order that the members may become more proficient in this tongue. Crossword puzzles, games, and singing, all conducted in French, have provided much entertainment and merriment. Occasionally, the club has been fortunate enough to have some one speak upon some famous Frenchman, such as Jeanne D'Arc or Napoleon and to see slides on the subject discussed.

John Greene is president, Patricia Ditsch, vice-president; Jane Goetz, secretary; Joe Clements, treasurer, and Mlle. Gendreau, adviser.

First Row: Miss Underwood, B. Crawford, N. Griffin, V. Smith, D. Crawford. Second Row: J. McFarren, J. Hayes, P. Farley, A. Christopher, M. Berg, M. Hoffner, G. Wolfertz, J. Swartout, D. Clark, J. Haist, H. Wilsey. Third Row: E. Wilson, S. Pugsley, W. Schaffer, E. Rasmusson, D. Chandler, J. Barney.

Art Round Table

Under the able leadership of Miss Underwood, the Art Round Table holds two meetings a month. The members are girls who are interested in art and have taken this subject or course in school. As those having mutual interests are naturally drawn together, this club was organized for those whose major interest is in the artistic.

Famous artists of the Renaissance Period, as well as contemporaries, are studied, their works, their style, and their technique all being considered. Moreover, the girls have the opportunity of developing their own skill in drawing, painting, and craftsmanship. The meetings in which these last features are emphasized are called craft meetings and are held at school. In the homes of the various members, meetings of a social nature are conducted.

The members of this club are often asked by various school organizations to make and to give artistic help of various kinds. They were especially active in making "sandwich signs" to advertise the Senior Play.

It is necessary in administering these activities to have capable and dependable leaders. These are chosen by popular vote and are therefore outstanding students. It is an honor indeed to be elected to an office in this club. Virginia McCullough became president this year, but when she moved from this vicinity, she was followed by Lorraine Davison. Norma Griffiths was elected secretary, and Virginia Smith, treasurer. Thus the Art Round Table is ably conducted and guided, and because of this, it is carrying out in admirable manner its aims to improve and inform along art lines.

First Row: J. Maloney, C. Popalisky, W. Watson, E. Roob, R. Getzen, N. Hyatt, P. Barger, J. Payne, L. Brown, G. Petrie, F. Schneider, A. Parsons. Second Row: H. Hough, J. Clements, P. Jackson, C. The Letter Club

The newest addition to the athletic organizations of Kenmore is the Letter Club, which was formed early this year. The club has as its purpose the improvement of conditions in the school and the advancement of good fellowship among those who have the ability to earn a varsity "K". Without doubt it has put the pep and vitality, so long lacking, back into the sports program.

The destinies of the club have been led by Wally Carpenter, president; Edward De Glopper, vice-president; Courtly Parker, secretary; Wally Stevens, treasurer, and Mr. Baisch as faculty adviser. The Letter Club led the recent campaign for more orderly conduct in and around school and staged one of the most enthusiastic letter day assemblies ever known to Kenmore in honor of the athletes who had just won varsity letters. The Letter Club also made merry at a banquet honoring the winter sports participants.

With a year of valuable and enjoyable work to its credit, the Letter Club is now the nucleus of spirit and action in Kenmore High.
